Index

Acreage of common field, meadow, waste, and enclosed land in selected parishes of Arden Forest, 1530–1649, table, 87
Act of Settlement (1662), effect on population movements from arable to pastoral areas of England in the 17th century, 173
Æthelgeard, thegn of Wessex, charters granted to him in the 10th century surviving in the Codex Wintoniensis, 15–17
Æthelwulf, King, effect of his Second Decimation (854) on the Codex Wintoniensis, 16, 19, 21, 23
Agrarian economy in Arden Forest, 1530–1649, 86–111
Agricultural change, in Arden Forest (1530–1649), 96–9 passim; in the 17th century, 148–77
AGRICULTURAL HISTORY REVIEW, first editor, xi
Agricultural rent, Arden Forest, 16th–17th centuries, 103, 106, 107
Agricultural treatise, 17th century, 154, 159
Agriculture in the 17th century, 148–77; agricultural texts, 159; drainage schemes, 153–4, 167–8; improvements in corn-growing areas, 152–66; improvers in arable farming, 154; vegetable and herb cultivation, 158
Alcuin Press at Chipping Campden and Welwyn Garden City, viii
Anglo-Saxon land charters forming the Codex Wintoniensis at Winchester, sources examined, 7–38; evidence of contemporary endorsements on royal landbooks, 20–4; royal archives, possible source of certain entries, 9–38 passim
Arable farming in the 17th century, 152–66
Arden Forest, economic and social change (1530–1649), 84–111; evidence of early enclosure, 84–6, 95, 98; geology of Forest, 85; statistics from selected parishes cited to show population, farm sizes, crops, and livestock figures, 85–90 passim
Athelstan, King, charters from his reign appearing in the Codex Wintoniensis, 7, 15

Battersea (Surrey), lordship of, value as possession of York in the 16th century, 68
Baxter, Richard, on needs of the poor in the 17th century, 175–6
Bede, History of England, cited, 39–63 passim
Benedict, Saint, early foundations of his Rule and their effect on the early English Church, 54–5, 62
Benedictine reform at Winchester (964), its effect on the compilation of the Codex Wintoniensis, 10–18 passim
Beresford, Maurice W., 'Herbert Finberg: an Appreciation', vii–xii
Beverley (Yorks.), lordship of, value as possession of York (1536), 66; subsequent history, 69–70
Bibliography of the historical and religious writings of H. P. R. Finberg in order of publication 1–6
Bickenhill (Warws.), parish statistics cited to show economic and social change in Arden Forest, 1530–1649, 84–111
Blith, Walter, on industrial dye plants, 160–1; recommendations for improvement of land, quoted, 159
Broadwater Press, association of H. P. R. Finberg with the Press as a director, viii
Butler of Orwell (Cambs.), yeoman family late 16th–17th centuries, 119, 137–40 passim

Caius College (Cambridge), admission registers from the 16th century as source for an examination of schooling in rural Cambridgeshire, 1575–1700, 114–16 (see also Gonville College)
Cambridgeshire (1575–1700), examination of the opportunities for schooling of the farming community, 112–47; social and agricultural prosperity related to increased opportunity to study at University, 114–16; individual cases of yeomen's sons, 119–20; extent of literacy in county, 120–2; schools and schoolmasters, with maps, 123–6
Census (1851), statistics relating to the state of Anglican and Nonconformist communities in England, 179–85, 197; tables based on census, 181, 184
Cereal crops in the 17th century, improvements, 153–5
Chad, Bishop of Northumbria (c. 667), 43–50 passim
Chalklin, C. W., on Compton Census with reference to Kent, with table, 186–7
Charters, see Land Charters and Codex Wintoniensis
Cheese-making, Arden Forest, 16th–17th centuries, 91–2, 98
Child labour and education in 16th-century agricultural Cambridgeshire, 112–14
Churchdown (Glos.), barony of, value as possession of York (1536), 67–8; subsequent history, 70
Codex Wintoniensis, an examination of its relationship with the Anglo-Saxon royal archives and the authenticity of the charters, 7–38; evidence for dating of transfers of royal archival entries to Cathedral records, 13–17; detailed list of contents of Codex, 24–38
Colman, Bishop of Northumbria (c. 664), 42–3, 48
Colombanus, Saint, his form of monasticism and its relevance to Bishop Wilfrid's life, 54–61 passim
Common rights in the 17th century, 168
Compton Census (1676), state of Dissent, with table, 180, 185–8, 192
Crisps of Willingham (Cambs.), yeoman family late 16th–17th centuries, 120, 133, 137–40 passim
Cross, Claire, 'The Economic Problems of the See of York: Decline and Recovery in the Sixteenth Century', 64–83
Cultivation in the 17th century, growth of market gardening and crops for domestic crafts and dyeing industries, 158–71 passim

Deane, Phyllis, on causes of industrial and agricultural revolutions, 177
Defoe, Daniel, on a farmer–leadminer of the Peak District, 175; on Warwickshire, 92, 98
Dickens, Professor A. G., on the life of Robert Holgate, 70–1
Dissenting sects (1851), partial list, 183
Domesday Book, evidence relating to charters in Codex Wintoniensis, cited, 10–11

Domestic industry, 17th century, in arable regions, 157–8; in 'open' village of Winchcombe (Glos.), 165–6; in pastoral regions, 171–6 passim
Drake, Francis, on history of York, 65, 70
Dunkirk (Kent), a strong nonconforming community in the 19th century, 195–6; Revd. Springett on state of the religion of the village (1888), 196

Eadred, King, land charters of his reign in the Codex Wintoniensis, 14, 15
Eadwig, King, land charters of his reign in the Codex Wintoniensis, 14, 15
Early English Church, the social and political problems in the 7th century, 39–63; structure of the hierarchy, 53; early sees, 57
Easter, Roman and Celtic methods of calculation in the early English Church, 41–2; 52–4
Economic problems of the See of York in the 16th century, 64–83
Economy, see Agrarian economy
Eddius, Stephanus, Life of Bishop Wilfrid, cited, 41–52 passim
Edgar, King, land charters of his reign in the Codex Wintoniensis, 8, 13, 14, 18
Educational opportunities in rural Cambridgeshire, 1575–1700, 112–47
Eliot, George, her portrayal of dissenters, cited, 178, 198
Elizabeth, Queen of England, relationship with Church, with particular reference to York, 74
Elmdon (Warws.), parish statistics cited to show economic and social change in Arden Forest, 1530–1649, 84–111
Enclosure, in the 17th century, 155, 173–4; evidence of early enclosing of common land in Arden Forest, 84–111
Everitt, Alan, 'Nonconformity in Country Parishes', 178–99
Evesham cartulary, source of evidence for origins of charters in Codex Wintoniensis, 15, 16

Finberg, H. P. R., an appreciation of his life and work, vii–xii; a bibliography of his historical and religious writings, 1–6; on Codex Wintoniensis, 8–17 passim; on early English Church history, 39, 57–8; on nonconformity in south-west England in the 19th century, 179
First Fruits paid by York to the Crown in the 16th–17th centuries, 68, 71; documents from First Fruits Office, cited, 65
Forest of Arden, see Arden Forest
Frere, Professor, on early towns, 58

Gibson, Edmund, on Warwickshire, 91–8 passim
Gonville College (Cambridge), examination of number of entrants from Cambridgeshire and Isle of Ely (1558–1700) related to social structures in these areas, with table, 116–20 (see also Caius College)
Gregory the Great, and the See of York (7th century), 48; and monasticism, 54–6

Hadrill, J. M. Wallace, on Bede, 46
Haligdom, the King's royal archives at Winchester, 18–20
Hart, Cyril, 'The Codex Wintoniensis and the King's Haligdom', 7–38
Hearth Tax Return (1666), cited, 167
Henry VIII, royal exchanges of land affecting See of York, 64–81 passim
Hexhamshire (Northumberland), barony of, value as a possession of York (1536), 66; subsequent history, 70
Hill, Dr C., on economic problems of the Church in the 16th century, 77
Holgate, Robert, Archbishop of York (c. 1545), 64–81 passim
Hoskins, W. G., association with H. P. R. Finberg, ix

Irish Cattle Act (1666), effect on wool market, 149; effect on livestock market, 150; effect on dairy produce, 150
Isle of Ely (1558–1700), social structure directly related to entrants to Cambridge colleges from the area, 116–20; individual cases of yeomen's sons, 119–20; extent of literacy in Isle, 120–2

John, Eric, 'The Social and Political Problems of the Early English Church', 39–63; on Codex Wintoniensis, 9, 13
Johnson, A. H., on growth of larger farms due to economic changes in the 17th century, 156

Kent, dissenting communities in 17th century related to types of settlement, 188–97; reasons for spread of dissension in area, 191–3

Land charters shown in the Codex Wintoniensis, 7–38; detailed examination of certain charters grouped under place names, 10–38
Lee, Edward, Archbishop of York (1536–44), 64–81 passim
Leicester University, Department of English Local History, vii–xii
Leicestershire, nonconformity in boundary settlements of Coalville and Walton, 194–5
Lindisfarne Abbey (7th century), early See of Northumbria, 40–56 passim
Little Gransden (Cambs.), records of school (1575–1700), 128
Livestock in Arden Forest (16th–17th centuries), with table, 86–9; swing from livestock to arable farming in the 17th century, 91–4
Local history studies, contribution of H. P. R. Finberg and W. G. Hoskins, vii–xii

Maitland, F. W., on Codex Wintoniensis, 8
Market gardening in the 17th century, rise of, 160–5; detailed probate inventory of a gardener, 163–4
Marling in Arden Forest, 16th–17th centuries, 96
Mary, Queen of England, gifts and relations with the See of York, 72–3
Milton (Cambs.), comparison of literacy with Orwell and Willingham (1575–1700), 140–1
Monasticism in the early English Church and its effect on the Church (7th century), 54–62 passim

Nonconformity in England, 178–99; correlation between incidence of dissent and types of community, 182; comparison of country areas with forest and boundary settlements, 185–97
Northumbria, political and Church history in the 7th century, 41–63
Nucleated settlement in the 17th century, 157

Old English charters appearing in the Codex Wintoniensis, 8
Old English topography related to entries in Codex Wintoniensis, 10–13
Old Minster, see Winchester Cathedral Priory
Open village settlement in the 17th century, 157; detailed account of Winchcombe (Glos.), 165–6
Orwell (Cambs.), 1575–1700, examination of schooling, literacy, and schoolmasters, 119–20, 134–47; Butler of Orwell, 119, 137, 139–40
Otley (Yorks.), lordship of, value as possession of York (1536), 67

Pastoral farming in the 17th century, 167–77; allied with crafts and industries, 171–2, 175
Plot, Robert, on new strains of cereals in the 17th century, 153
Plummer, Alfred, on Bishop Wilfrid, 42–5, 50
Poole, Dr R. L., on Bishop Wilfrid's career, 44, 46, 47; on the early kingdoms of England, 41
Population of Arden Forest, 13th–17th centuries, 85, 107, 108
Population movement related to types of agriculture in the 17th century, 173–6
Prices in the 17th century of, dye crops, 160–2, 164; hemp and flax, 171; livestock products, 149, 150; market garden produce, 163
Probate inventories, as source on literacy in Cambridgeshire (1575–1700), 142–4; from five parishes in Arden Forest as basis for analysis of economic and social structures, 16th–17th centuries, 86–111; details of goods and their value belonging to a 17th-century gardener, 163–4
Public Record Office, documents relating to valor of the possessions of the Archbishop of York (c. 1535), cited, 65–71 passim; documents relating to the First Fruits Office, cited, 65

Religious movements as indication of literacy in a community, 144–6
Ripon (Yorks.), lordship of, value as possession of York (1536), 66; subsequent history, 70, 73
Rowington (Warws.), parish statistics cited to show economic and social change in Arden Forest, 1530–1649, 84–111
Royal Society Georgical Enquiries (1664), findings on improvements, cited, 153, 170

St John's College (Cambridge), examination of backgrounds of entrants in the 16th–17th centuries, 115–16; particular reference to entrants from Cambridgeshire and the Isle of Ely related to social structure of areas, with table, 116–17
Schools (Cambridgeshire 1575–1700), continuity of, type of education, schoolmasters, with maps, 123–44 passim
Scrooby (Yorks.), lordship of, value as possession of York (1536), 67; subsequent history, 70, 73
Sharp, John, Archbishop of York (c. 1691), 64; on the See of York, 64, 67, 79
Sheldon (Warws.), parish statistics cited to show economic and social change in Arden Forest, 1530–1649, 84–111
Sherburn (Yorks.), barony of, value as possession of York (1536), 66; subsequent history, 70
Skipp, V. H. T., 'Economic and Social Change in the Forest of Arden, 1530–1649', 84–111
Social change in the 17th century, 148–77
Social development in Arden Forest, 1530–1649, with particular reference to dwelling house sizes, occupations, status, and wealth of the community (with tables), 99–103
Solihull (Warws.), parish statistics cited to show economic and social change in Arden Forest, 1530–1649, 84–111
Southwell (Notts.), lordship of, value as possession of York (1536), 67; subsequent history, 69, 73
Springett, Revd W. J., on religion in Dunkirk (Kent), in 1888, 196
Spufford, Margaret, 'The Schooling of the Peasantry in Cambridgeshire, 1575–1700', 112–47
Stenton, F. M., on Codex Wintoniensis, 8; on the Battle of Trent, 51
Stubbs, William, on Codex Wintoniensis, 8
Synod of Whitby (664), importance of calculation of Easter for Bishop Wilfrid, 42–52; consequences of decision on ecclesiastical organization, 56

Thirsk, Dr Joan, 'Seventeenth-century Agriculture and Social Change', 148–77; on agriculture in Arden Forest (1530–1649), 84
Timber, use of for iron making in the Arden Forest, 16th–17th centuries, 94–5
Tobacco growing at Winchcombe (Glos.), 17th century, 165–6
Topcliffe (Yorks.), manor of, acquisition by York (1543), and subsequent history, 70
Torre, James, on history of the See of York in the 16th century, 64

University expansion in the 16th–17th centuries, 113–16

Values of cattle, crops, furniture, goods, land and valuables (with tables) in Arden Forest (1530–1649), 98–104
Vaughan, Rowland, irrigation scheme in the 17th century, cited, 153–4, 169

Whitby, Synod of, see Synod of Whitby
Whitelock, Miss D., on Codex Wintoniensis, 8
Wilfrid, Saint, a reappraisal of his career as Bishop in the context of early English Church social and political history, 40–63 passim
Willingham (Isle of Ely), examination of schools, schoolmasters, and literacy, 1575–1700, 120, 130–41 passim; the Crisps of Willingham, 120, 133, 137–40 passim
Willis, Browne, on Archbishop Lee of York, 65, 70, 72

Wills, as evidence of literacy in 17th century Cambridgeshire and Isle of Ely, 121–2, 134–40
Winchester Cathedral Priory, examination of Codex Wintoniensis and the Anglo-Saxon royal archives, 7–38; evidence to support theory of transfer of charter details from royal archives to Cathedral archives, 13–18; charters from Cathedral not included in Codex, 19, 20
Wool, prices of in the 17th century, 149
Worcestershire, nonconformity in the boundary settlement of Lye Waste, 195
Yardley (Warws.), parish statistics cited to show economic and social change in Arden Forest, 1530–1649, 84–111
York House (London), possession of York, 16th century, 75
York, See of, income and economic problems of the 16th century, 64–83; metropolitan See in the 13th–14th centuries, 7; table of lands owned before the Reformation, with values in the 16th century, 82; table of values of income for all lands in the 16th century, 83